EDUCATORS LET ATHLETIC FIELD FOR HORSE SHOW

Board Gives Consent For Saddle Class To Be Staged at Night

NO ADMISSION CHARGED

Society To Pay For All
Damage to Grounds

The saddle horse show, in connection with Circleville's 34th annual Pumpkin Show, will be staged on the high school athletic field. Permission to use the lighted field was granted the show society at a special meeting of the board of education Tuesday evening. The board favored the move unanimously.

At a previous meeting the board had refused the field for the horse show, explaining that efforts were being made to improve it for football games. School children were not permitted to use it despite the lack of playground space.

Open to Children

Under the board's new ruling the field will be open to school children as a playground.

The Pumpkin Show society agreed to take care of any damage to the field caused by the horse show. It was agreed also that no admission be made for the exhibition. The show society will pay lighting expenses.

Charles H. May, president of the Board of education, called the special meeting Tuesday afternoon for 7 p. m. Those who met with the board to discuss the question were E. E. Wolf, director of the horse show, Robert Colville, treasurer of the Pumpkin Show society, Paul Adkins, chairman of the horse show, Forrest Short, C. E. Roof, and C. A. Weldon.

Pumpkin Show officials were pleased by the board's decision. The field will make an ideal location for the exhibition. Nearby lots will be used for stable tents. The horse show will be held on Thursday and Friday nights beginning at 8 o'clock. Nine classes will be presented each evening.

The government's formal offer was made Sept. 30, and accepted by councilmen last Wednesday. Under regulations of the grant the city has 14 weeks from the date of the offer to start work on the project.

'Woman' 7 Years

FOR seven years William Richeson, 26, of New York, masqueraded as a woman. He worked as a waitress in hotels and restaurants and once was a "matron" in an Albany hospital under the name of "Mary Baker". Richeson was arrested as a "woman" on a disorderly conduct charge and lodged in the Women's House of Detention for two days before his sex was discovered. Appearing in court on the charge, he was sentenced to 90 days in the workhouse. His attorney, Arnold T. Ginsberg, pleading for lenience, told the court that "he gets a tremendous kick out of fooling people."

GHOUL DISINTERS BODY OF YOUTH, DEMANDS RANSOM

STREETSVILLE, Ont., Oct. 13.—(UP)—Posses were organized today to aid police in search for a ghoul who disinterred and stole a newly buried body and left a note demanding $100 ransom.

Enraged townspeople armed to hunt the thief who opened the two-day old grave of 20-year-old Hayden Pope, 20, and determined to avenge his parents, who were near collapse and under a physician's care.

Pope died last Thursday after a long illness. He was buried Sunday. Yesterday Mrs. Robert Edwards visited the cemetery and noticed that the new grave had been disturbed. She fled.

Police, notified by persons to whom Mrs. Edwards related her discovery, found the coffin empty and a note inside. The note, scrawled in pencil, demanded $100 of Pope's parents, "before your boy will be returned."

Police believed the grave robbery took place Monday night. They doubted the body could have been moved far without attracting attention.

Both police and doctors discounted a suggestion that the body might have been stolen for "medical research." Dr. S. H. Smith, the Pope family physician, said the youth died of an intestinal tumor, a malady not sufficiently rare to excite unusual interest among medical students.

A. F. OF L. SAYS CONFAB TERMS ARE "NOT FAIR"

Federation Chiefs Willing To Meet On Equal Terms
With Lewis, Aides

HOWARD OUSTER VOTED

Parley Request Is Termed
"Unfair and Insincere"

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 13.—(UP)—American Federation of Labor leaders today rejected a Committee for Industrial Organization plan for a peace conference, because of the conditions attached to it. But they offered to sit at a peace conference where no conditions were laid down in advance, and both sides could meet on even terms.

Among other things, the C. I. O. had demanded that the federation relax its attitude toward the industrial type of unionism, on which the C. I. O. is founded, before any peace negotiations start.

Flatly rejecting the peace offer from the John L. Lewis faction as "unfair and insincere," the federation leaders said they were ready to negotiate "without conditions" for a peaceful conclusion of the conflict which has divided wage earners between the A. F. of L. craft and the C. I. O. industrial type unions.

William Green, president of the federation, was understood to believe that the offer of the Lewis faction—despite the unacceptable conditions attached—might eventually lead to progress toward a settlement.

A. F. of L. Willing

George L. Harrison, vice president of the federation and chairman of the permanent committee appointed to negotiate with the C. I. O., said the A. F. of L. would welcome any indication that the insurgent unions were willing to attend a peace conference without conditions.

UPDYKE SEEKING TEAMS TO ENTER PULLING CONTEST

Plans for the pulling contest, a new feature of the draft horse division of the Pumpkin Show, were announced Wednesday by Orren Updyke, chairman in charge. Entries are being received from all parts of Ohio.

The contest will be held Thursday, Oct. 21, at 1:30 p. m. on the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. field, W. Mount street.

There will be contests for both lightweight and heavyweight teams. Lightweight teams are listed at 3,000 pounds and under, heavyweights over 3,000 pounds. Five premiums of $30, $20, $15, $10 and $5 will be awarded in each class. A mud boat will be used. The regulation pull is twenty-seven and a half feet. So far judges have not been named.

Merchants Plan Fall Activities

Businessmen Gather for Dinner Meeting;
Store Front Decorations and November
Sales Event Decided by Association

Fifty-five Circleville businessmen, attending a dinner meeting of the Retail Merchants Association, Tuesday night, approved a store front decoration program for the Christmas season.

Last year several business places had annual decorations, using shadow boxes with special lighting effects, and found they attracted considerable attention. Businessmen hope 50 to 60 stores will participate in the decoration program this year. A certain evening will be designated for "unveiling" the displays.

Nazis Favor Neutrality For Belgium

Frontiers, Territories To Be Respected In Case of European Strife

BERLIN, Oct. 13.—(UP)—Germany in a formal declaration today guaranteed to respect the integrity and inviolability of Belgium's frontiers and territory.

The declaration supplements similar ones made by Great Britain and France six months ago, recognizing Belgium's desire to remain neutral in any European war.

It was made in the form of a joint note issued by Baron Konstantin von Neurath, German foreign minister, and Vicomte Jacques Davignon, Belgian minister to Germany.

Germany pledges, as did Britain and France, to assist Belgium if she is the object of attack or invasion.

FIRE ON TANKER KILLS SIX, HURTS 12 DECK WORKERS

BAYTOWN, Tex., Oct. 13.—(UP)—Fire that flashed across the deck of the tanker Paragona at the loading docks here late Tuesday killed six men and injured 12, four of them critically.

The dead were five Venezuelan deck hands and a Chinese steward.

The fire broke out in a gasoline loading line and ignited the deck, which was saturated with waste oil and gasoline.

The five Venezuelans were burned in their bunks in the stern of the ship. They may have been asleep.

Workers at the Humble Oil and Refining company dock extinguished the blaze in half an hour.

GUARDSMEN SAVE THREE HUNTERS FROM LAKE ERIE

CLEVELAND, Oct. 13.—(UP)—Three duck hunters, who had been marooned on a battered breakwater in Lake Erie, were rescued by coast guardsmen here today.

The hunters, Joe Rapo, Joseph Nemes and George Memeth, all of Cleveland, were stranded on the breakwater when their rowboat drifted away. They were drenched and suffering from exposure when taken from the slippery ledge by Boatswain's Mate John Needham and three aides.

The coast guards made a fourth rescue when they took a man off a foundering barge, The Ballons. The tug was conveyed into port.

PRESIDENT ASKS SOLONS TO VOTE FIVE MEASURES

Control of Crops, Minimum

F. D. R.'s Goal

NATION HEARS ADDRESS

Hunt For Peace Reiterated By Chief Executive

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(UP)—President Roosevelt today pointed out the Nov. 15 special session of congress to the legislative battle front where Democratic majorities rebuffed him the session just closed.

Mr. Roosevelt laid down for congress an immediate five-point domestic program weighted with crop control and legislation for minimum wages and maximum hours. His most urgent concern was the "lowest paid labor." He called for congressional action "right away."

The immediate reaction of congressional leaders to the special session call and to the program outlined for them by the president in a fireside chat last night was not enthusiastic.

Republicans generally claimed that the special session was unnecessary because "no emergency" existed. Although ardent New Dealers expressed "full accord" with the action, Democratic senators who helped defeat the president's judicial reorganization bill last summer commented reservedly.

Guided by Experience

Mr. Roosevelt touched only briefly on foreign affairs in his address last night but he warned that we cannot avoid war by ignoring it. He implied extension to Spain of American co-operative efforts—perhaps by conference—in search of peace. But the president said he "hated war" and promised to be guided by experiences of the Woodrow Wilson administration, of which he was a member, in determining what not to do.

Mr. Roosevelt re-affirmed the United States' active international co-operation in behalf of peace. He emphasized American participation in the approaching nine-power pact conference to end war in China.

Citing the imminent nine-power conference, Mr. Roosevelt said: "Such co-operation would be an example of one of the possible paths to follow in our search for (Continued on Page Eight)"

CHURCH DEFEATS MOVE TO CHANGE MARRIAGE LAWS

CINCINNATI, Oct. 13.—(UP)—The Protestant Episcopal church will continue to oppose remarriage of divorced persons, at least for another three years.

Delegates to the triennial convention, by a 3 to 1 majority, turned down the majority report of a commission that had been studying the question of marriage and divorce for 12 years. This report recommended that remarriage of any divorced person be permitted in the church with approval of the bishop of the diocese.

After voting down the proposal, delegates voted to refer the matter back to the commission, which would be increased by five members, for report at the 1940 general convention.

A minority report of three members of the commission, recommending that remarriage be permitted to innocent parties to a divorce granted for adultery, whether or not so stated in the civil suit, was defeated by a viva voce vote.

Two slight changes were voted in the church canon. One added "sexual perversion" to "impotence" as grounds for annulment, and the other designated "lack of legal consent" as grounds for annulment. Those whose marriages are annulled may be remarried in the Episcopal church.

The vote came after three hours and a half debate last night.

JAPANESE ARMY UNABLE TO MOVE CHINESE FORCES

SHANGHAI, Oct. 13.—(UP)—Japanese shock troops hammered vainly at Chinese lines on the Shanghai front and big fleets of Japanese war planes bombed villages west of the city today as the battle for Shanghai entered its third month.

The long-awaited Japanese "big push" had not come, nor had the mass offensive with which the Chinese had hoped to celebrate the 26th anniversary of the revolution that led to the republic.

Weather conditions caused postponement. Through fields were still marshy after long rains, the Japanese attacked at a dozen points along the front, supported by bombing planes. Reports from the front showed that at many points there was hand to hand fighting.

Chinese spokesmen asserted that Japanese were thrown back in an attempt to land reinforcements near Yangtze river, at the mouth of the Yangtze river and that Chinese infantrymen repulsed a tank-infantry attack in the Chapel district of North Shanghai.

DALHOVER TELLS G-MEN OF FOUR BRADY MURDERS

Shooting of Piqua Clerk
Confessed in Grilling in Bangor, Maine

TWO POLICEMEN KILLED

Gang Member Tells Police of Trio's Hang-out

BANGOR, Me., Oct. 13.—(UP)—James Dalhover, 31, sole survivor of the notorious Al Brady gang of midwestern outlaws, confessed to G-men today that the gang was responsible for four murders, according to Bangor police.

It was reported that Dalhover willingly signed the long confession which he dictated under hours of questioning and which a stenographer typed.

"Dalhover has agreed to return to Indiana for his murder trial without any extradition fight," Police Capt. Frank Foley said, "and he may leave Bangor airport by plane later today."

Murders Recalled

Police said Dalhover's confession linked the gang with these murders:

1. Indiana State Policeman Paul V. Minneman, slain when gangsters he was pursuing after a bank holdup at Goodland, Ind., turned suddenly and opened fire.

2. Indianapolis Police Sergeant Richard Rivers, slain when Brady and Dalhover failed to shoot their way out of a police trap.

3. Highway Patrolman George Conn at Freeport, O., slain during a holdup.

"Dalhover seemed perfectly willing to tell everything after the federal men had worked on him awhile," said Captain Foley, who was standing outside the desperado's cell during much of the questioning.

"He seemed sick of the whole business and glad to get it off his chest."

A few hours earlier the undersized gangster had said:

"I wish they'd got me, too."

Dalhover was quoted in the confession, as saying that the gang came to Maine, not bent on robbery, but merely to augment its supply of arms and ammunition.

The gang's New England hideout, Dalhover was quoted, was "somewhere in Bridgeport, Conn." The exact address, was not revealed. He did say, however, that the hideout was "a house."

Two Women Held

Bangor police were informed that federal agents at Bridgeport were holding two women found at the address Dalhover gave as the hideout.

Though the gang had $5,000 cash, neatly bundled with a rubber band, when yesterday's shoot-outs ended its career, Dalhover told G-men that when they had jail in Indiana last year they had only a few dollars total capital.

Dalhover told federal agents that yesterday's trip was the last one they planned to make to Maine. He said that as soon as they had replenished their arsenal they planned to return to their native Indiana and resume activities.

Myron E. Guernsey, federal agent in charge of yesterday's coup, had left Bangor today and was believed in Bridgeport investigating Dalhover's story of the hideout.

Meanwhile, Dr. Herbert C. Scribner announced that on the body of Gang-Leader Brady he found an unhealed old wound, just above the heart. Indications were that the wound had not received proper medical treatment, he said.

Death List in Russia's Enemy Purge Set at 817

MOSCOW, Oct. 13.—(UP)—Russia's merciless purge of enemies of the Stalinist regime is nearly ended, it was understood today. It was believed that the campaign of extermination might be ended by November 7, 20th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution.

A United Press listed 817 persons known to have been executed in the purge. Probably the total is larger, but it was not believed to be materially so.

If it found possible to end the campaign by the revolution anniversary, the country would be free of men suspected of deviating from the strict Communist party line, and the campaign for the first election under the new Constitution could proceed without thought of "traitors." The election is to be held December 12.

DUFFY TO DELAY PAROLE REPORT UNTIL FINISHED

Attorney General Writes Letter To Governor Explaining Stand

$25,000 NEEDED FOR JOB

Davey Asked to Accept Word Of Official

COLUMBUS, Oct. 13—(UP)—Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy today declined to give Governor Davey a "complete report" of his current investigation of the state parole board and the parole system.

Duffy's refusal was contained in a letter to the Governor today, in response to a request from the chief executive for details of Duffy's parole investigation before consenting to ask the legislature for $25,000 with which to conduct further investigation.

The attorney general made public a communication from the governor in response to the request for the special appropriation, in which the governor pledged his "fullest cooperation" in the attorney general's investigation.

The governor requested from Duffy, "in order to justify such a request, at the earliest convenient time, a complete report on the results of the investigation to date."

"In other words," the governor asked, "do you have really tangible facts and evidence which make it appear reasonably certain that further efforts along this line will yield substantial results. I shall be glad to recommend additional appropriation if your report at this time justifies it in any reasonable degree."

Replying to the governor's communication, Duffy said:

"I never would have made such a request had I not possessed tangible facts upon which to base my belief that corruption had seeped into the parole system."

"It is my view that it would not be prudent at this time to make a 'complete report' such as you suggest in your letter."

Duffy said it would be "injudicious" to have such a report at the present time inasmuch as one of the governor's own executive departments is under investigation.

The attorney general suggested that "it would be better, because of the circumstances, if you (Davey) stand judiciously aloof until the evidence is completely assembled."

Duffy said he felt already too much publicity had been given to the parole investigation.

Duffy asked the governor to accept his word that progress was being made in the investigation, but if the governor refused to ask for the $25,000 appropriation, there was nothing his department could do but continue its work with limited funds now available.

Duffy's communication indicated he would not be ready to make a complete report on his findings until evidence was in form to be presented to grand juries in at least eight counties.

As Gangster Al Brady and Pal Fell Before G-Men Guns in Maine

MIDWEST'S public enemy No. 1, gangster Al Brady, 31, is shown lying dead in foreground, with his pal, Clarence Shaffer, 22, after the pair fell on a street at Bangor, Me., victims of a G-man ambush fusillade. The spectacular coup, which wiped out the Brady gang of Indiana, was engineered after federal agents were tipped that Brady would try to rob a Bangor sporting goods store. James Dalhove, 30, third member of the gang, received minor injuries and G-man Walter Walsh of Washington, D. C., was seriously wounded in the chest during the spectacular street battle which resulted. Dalhove was captured immediately.

CHILLICOTHE, Oct. 13 — Albert Nunley and Clyde Augustine, members of the "Harmonica Trio," were sentenced to 10 to 25 years in the Mansfield reformatory by Judge Wilbur M. McKenzie.

Sentencing the youths disposed of all cases of members of the group with the exception of James Evans, who is awaiting trial in Akron following his recent capture in Circleville. Richard Reynolds and Ernest Leasure, other members of the gang, were given reformatory sentences of 10 to 25 years at Akron.

Augustine admitted three robberies, theft of four autos, abductions and carrying concealed weapons. Nunley said he was in two car thefts, and one stick-up, but denied ever having carried a gun. The youths participated in robbery of the George Wright filling station, Kingston.

HUSTON IN MUSIC HALL

Distinguished actors are almost always interesting people at a party. Bing Crosby has discovered after presenting the famous folk of the screen colony for almost two years. Next Thursday, Oct. 14, Bing has Walter Huston as a guest in the Music Hall broadcast over the NBC red network at 10 p. m. (EST). Other guests will be Betty Furness, screen ingenue, and Hope Manning, operatic soprano.

Huston has played everything from Shakespeare to the modern "Doddsworth" on stage, screen and radio. His portrayal of Abraham Lincoln on the screen is a classic. In the Kraft Music Hall however Bing and Bob Burns will show listeners Huston's humorous side in one of their famous "interviews."

Hope Manning has sung with the St. Louis Opera Company and is now in Hollywood making pictures. This is her first appearance on an important network program.

The philosophic side of the week's entertainment will of course be interpreted by Bob Burns according to the theories he originated in Van Buren, Ark., some years ago.

Accompaniment for Bing's songs will be provided by Johnny Trotter's orchestra chorus numbers by the Paul Taylor group.

AT THE CLIFTONA

"The Frame-Up", Columbia drama of a two-fisted race track detective who battles a gang of big-city gamblers to a standstill when they attempted to "fix" the year's biggest race, will open locally at the Cliftona Theatre Thursday on a double bill with "A Dangerous Adventure" Paul Kelly is featured in the leading role with Jacqueline Wells, George McKay, Robert Emmett O'Connor and C. Montague Shaw in support.

The film was written for the screen by Harold Shumate from an original story by Richard Wormser, D. Ross Lederman directed. In brief, the story deals with the bold plan of a gang of gamblers to substitute a track record-breaker for an undistinguished entry in the Granville Sweepstakes. The gamblers are certain the "ringer" will win, cashing in in the meantime on the terrific odds offered on the real entry.

Kelly, as chief of the State Racing Commission detectives, attempts to scotch the scheme, but the gamblers checkmate him by kidnapping his secretary and depositing a handsome sum to his bank credit to make it appear as a bribe.

With the day of the Big Race approaching, events take a dramatic turn, leading up to a fast-paced, action-packed climax.

SOLONS DIVIDED OVER NEED FOR EXTRA SESSION

President Roosevelt Calls Congress To Convene On Nov. 15

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13—(UP)—Members of congress, scattered all over the world on vacations and business, prepared today to return to the capital for a special session of congress called by President Roosevelt for Nov. 15.

Some received the news favorably. Most ardent New Dealers deeming the action "necessary." But many cut short their vacations reluctantly expressing the belief that such action was necessary only in event of an emergency. Democratic senators, who bolted administration leadership last summer and defeated the president's court reorganization bill, were hesitant in commenting.

The few congressmen here were split over the call.

"Not Economic"

Rep. Melvin J. Maas, R., Minn., said that he felt the president's action was "far more political than it is economic."

"I think it's just a plan to let the boys get home early next year and do some campaigning," he said, "pointing that all the members of congress and one-third of the senate must face re-election in the fall of 1938."

Rep. George N. Seger, R., N. J., said: "Had the president taken this national inventory last February when he plunged the congress into the long drawn out supreme court fiasco, a special session would not now be held necessary."

Speaker William B. Bankhead, however, was in "full accord with the president," and said he planned "an early adjournment" next year.

Sen. John H. Bankhead, D., Ala., author of the repealed Bankhead cotton control act, "heartily approved" the action because "the situation in the cotton belt demands immediate attention."

Other comment by members of congress in various parts of the country follows:

Sen. Elbert D. Thomas, D., Utah: "I am very pleased and believe it necessary that we get some of the pending legislation behind us before the regular session."

Sen. Charles L. McNary, R., Ore.: "I asked him (President Roosevelt) not to do it and tried to talk him out of it, because I see no emergency. The agriculture committee will not be ready with its report on the farm bill until Jan. 1, but perhaps the president has in mind to force the wage and hour bill out of the house."

Borah Not Commenting

Sen. William E. Borah, R., Idaho: "I regard President Roosevelt's statement on foreign policy in his fireside chat a very good one." Sen. Borah declined to comment on the call for a special session.

Rep. Maury Maverick, D. Tex.: "Returning we should act with unified spirits, passing both the farm and administration wage bills at once. Concerning war, I can only

At a meeting of the local school board yesterday evening, with four of the five members present, it was unanimously voted to sell the old school building and grounds on Long street. It is an "open secret" now that there is a "fair" chance to interest some parties who it is thought can be induced to locate here with a small factory. An effort will be made to interest these people in coming here.

Harry Topolosky has sold his junk yard business so reports were current yesterday, but we have not been able to contact him for a statement. So there you are, it may be just another one of those things which by name, mother used to use to make soap of. We'll find out about it. Harry is a candidate for village councilman and maybe he thinks he can't fool with a thing like a junk yard when so good a job is in sight and just ahead. We'll be seeing Harry about this.

say that we should not lose a single life or spend a single penny to save all our foreign investments."

Rep. Edward T. Taylor, D., Colo.: "In the main the president's objectives are laudable. I don't believe the extra session will be injurious to balancing the budget."

Members of a congressional delegation, investigating the Hawaiian Islands' qualifications for statehood, showed little enthusiasm when interviewed at Honolulu.

Their comment:

Rep. Bertrand Snell, R., N. Y.: "The action was not necessary. Agriculture, wages and hours, and other legislation will be no further advanced by a special session."

Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney, D., Wyo., one of the opponents of the court bill: "It's okay with me. He called it and we've got to take it."

Sen. Ernest Lundeen, F-L, Minn.: "I think it unnecessary. The president could have waited until the regular session. Domestic affairs do not require a special session."

Sen. William King, D., Utah: "I hesitate to approve the president's action."

Sen. Guy Gillette, R., Iowa: "I do not anticipate it and don't think it necessary for agricultural legislation."

Joe Higley, graduate of Ashville H. S. and O. S. U., who sang all last winter with the First Presbyterian choir in Columbus, has been accepted as a member of the Mendelssohn Chorus in Philadelphia where he is now located with Leeds & Northrup, manufacturers of electrical equipment.

This is the largest and according to many critics, the best mixed chorus in the city. They have five concerts scheduled for the winter season to be given in the Academy of Music; in four of the five, the chorus will be assisted by the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra. Such programs require a lot of practice and Joe seems to think his spare time will be pretty well taken up this winter.

SIXTEEN-CYLINDER LOCOMOTIVE

ON top of all the other innovations with which the railroads have been surprising us lately, it looks as if locomotives
are going to stop puffing. The Baltimore and Ohio breaks out with plans for a steam engine without visible driving rods and
with as many cylinders as a fancy automobile.

Instead of two huge cylinders, one on each side of the engine, there will be 16
of them geared directly to the wheel
axles, and working as silently as a gas
motor or a steam turbine, with none of the usual pounding on the tracks. The gears will run in a constant bath of oil. The engine is expected to develop 5,000
horsepower and haul 14 standard Pullman
cars 100 miles an hour on a straight, level
track, with 15 per cent fuel saving.

There is no reason apparent, when you
once start thinking about it, why a railroad engine, or any steam engine, shouldn't be built in this way, borrowing ideas from the gas engine. If it works as well as expected, we may see a wider adaptation
of the new multiple-cylinder system.
Steam might even return to automobiles.

GYPPED SPECTATORS

AN American traveler, who happened to be in Munich when Mussolini and Hitler met there, reports two things that struck him as making the occasion different from any great gathering to see a celebrity in this country.

The cheers of the throngs did not come in the prolonged roar of an American crowd yelling "hurrah!" and "attaboy!"
Instead, the clipped "heil, heil, heil!" had
the staccato effect of a college football yell. The well trained crowds seem to cheer in unison, which must lessen the effect of spontaneity.

The other distinctive feature was the speed at which the car of the leaders
moved. As Hitler arrived to meet Mussolini his car tore through the cleared roadway at 50 miles an hour. Later, when it returned, bearing both host and guest, it traveled again at high speed. "If one of the great men began a bow," says the observer, "he could scarcely have completed it within 200 yards." It was difficult, thought the American, for any madman or would-be assassin to make a target of them.

With all the protection American presidents receive when on public view, there is more easy freedom and friendliness
between spectators and officials. It doesn't sound as if the folks on the sidelines in Munich or Berlin really had much fun on the festive occasion of Mussolini's
visit.

Judging from what's going on lately at Washington and Geneva, the Fascist and Communist nations may conclude that democracy isn't so dead after all.

It's a hard job to quarantine nations
that don't know they're sick.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . Hour by Hour

PAGES from the Diary of an Antiquated Reporter:

Up to find the world adrizzle,
the temperature at that miserable level that is too high for a furnace fire and too low without one. So, after shaking down the grates, did pull up for the coffee and the morning paper. Then away to the post
where a practical blank was drawn, the billing period being past.

At the plant everyone in high gear, chugging up that long Pre-Pumpkin Show grade. In dropped Bud Harden, of Chevrolet and fishing fame. Conducted him through the mechanical end,
it being his first visit to a modern newspaper manufacturing plant. Then a call from Dorothy Clark one of the prime movers in the coming horse show,
she seeking a trophy which was promised. Have not yet heard

where the exhibit of saddle and jumping horses is to be held.
Chatted briefly with Reed Shafer, who said that his new business is quite lusty for an infant. And with Harry Steinhauser, the former clothier.
Stood for the banter of Carl Mason, who was prouder than proud because he once more had beaten me to the razor.

There goes Harry Hill, who will tell anyone that the farmers have money this Fall. Harry sold four tractors in one morning
this week. Busted throughout the morning and afternoon with office calls and then home for a quick change ahead of the Retail Merchants Association dinner at 6:30.

At that session did find an assembly of more than a half hundred retailers, all intent on the same goal. Now, it appears that a concerted effort is about to be made to give Circleville

its proper place in the sun,
establishing it as one of the state's outstanding trading centers. The accomplishment was much in evidence at the session.
The assembly was truly representative of the city's business
and the largest gathering of its kind in recent years.

While the meeting was of merchants, all the discussions
dealt with customers and their past, present and future reactions. If plans of the group carry to completion, and it appears
they will, then the shoppers of Circleville's trade territory are sitting on top of the world.
When all the businessmen of a
town determine to go after trade
through the channels of quality,
price and fair treatment they
make rough going for outside competitors.

MEDITERRANEAN "PIRACY" CRISIS

WASHINGTON—War and Navy department officials have been receiving
some highly illuminating reports lately,
which indicate that submarine "piracy"
in the Mediterranean and the threatened break between Russia and Italy have behind them just one all-important motive.

It all boils down to the fact that oil
and gasoline are absolutely essential to the waging of modern warfare, and Loyalist
Spain has been getting her oil and gasoline from Russia.

Italy has now been sinking Russian tankers.

Aside from this, reports from the Loyalists indicate that they have been doing fairly well. Their army is well organized. Order has been restored behind the lines. Crops are being harvested.
A certain amount of munitions and army
supplies are being manufactured.

But the sea link with Soviet Russia has been absolutely essential, and alleged
Italian submarines now have cut that link.
If this link remains cut it looks as if the Loyalist cause is lost.

This explains the severity of the Soviet notes to Italy. To them this is the most crucial moment in the entire Spanish
war. A few weeks more, or at best a few months more of the Italian submarine
blockade, and the Spanish government
cannot hope to hold out against the rebels.

ITALIAN SUBS

American naval officers are not saying
so publicly, but there is not the slightest
doubt in their minds that the submarine
"pirates" in the Mediterranean are Italian.
Franco has two very decrepit submarines, neither able to submerge—at least,
not with any likelihood of ever rising to the surface.

Portugal has no submarines. The Germans have been cooperating with the British and can account for all their vessels. The Italians, on the other hand,
have one of the most modern submarine
fleets in Europe.

NOTE:—Only other submarines in that area are those of the Spanish government, which would not sink their own
tankers—though it is not outside the realm
of possibility that they might have sunk
the British vessel, in order to arouse British public opinion against Italy.

JUSTICE BLACK

Not long before Hugo Black of Alabama was appointed Justice of the Supreme Court he let drop this remark
to friends:

"The Supreme Court should write opinions which the man in the street can understand. Then if it wants to add a few foot-notes at the bottom for the benefit of the lawyers—why, O. K."

Hugo's friends are looking forward to the pleasure of reading the new Justice's
first opinions.

NO LABOR PEACE

William Green's "harmony proposal,"
made in a press interview in Atlantic City,
was a corking news story, but as a serious
basis for peace with the CIO, he might have saved his breath.

(He offered to take the ten original CIO unions back into the AFL fold and to arbitrate the jurisdiction over the 2,500,000 members who subsequently joined CIO ranks.)

Drugs Maintain Popularity Through Ages

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE POPULARITY of drugs
never will fade. Interest in them and faith in them is as deep and
as unreasoning as it has always been. When a new drug is announced the trouble is to keep people
from using it excessively before its actions and dangers
have been determined.

Some drugs are high in popularity for a long time, and then sink into desuetude. Acne, under whose leaves the devil hid, according to ancient legend, until the Angel Gabriel drove him forth, was used regularly as a fever remedy
in the days of our childhood, but now no more. Strychnine was the most popular drug when I was a young practitioner, given universally as a tonic, but it, too, fell out of fashion. Lobelia was popular with the pioneer practitioners of the west, the standby of the electrics, as an emetic to cause vomiting, but the practice of emesis has passed with the passing of the electric school. Its use has recently been revived as a cure of the tobacco habit, but as it exerts its effects by causing vomiting, it is not likely to be popular.

But the great drugs that always
are necessary go on without any real ebb or flow of their popularity.

Opium, and its derivatives—morphine and codeine—no one could practice medicine without it. It has been with us a long time: Di-oscorides, the Greek physician of the second century, instructed his disciples how to gather it. "Some-cut the poppy heads with the leaves, squeeze them through a press and rubbing them in a mortar, from them into troches. This is called meconium and is weaker than the opus. But whoever desires to gather the juice must proceed thus: After the heads are moistened with dew, let them be cut round the asterisk with a knife, but not penetrate through them, and from the sides cut straight lines in the surface, and draw off the tear that flows into a shell. And come again not long after, for another tear will be found standing on it, and the day

following it will be found in the same manner."

Mercury has long history
in the use of its preparations, it probably is used for more things than
any other drug in medicine. As calomel
or blue-mass it is a cathartic. It is a specific for one of the chronic infections. As bichloride, it is used as a most powerful antiseptic. As ammoniated mercury, it is used in ointments in skin
infections. As blue ointment it destroys the crab louse. As mer-
curic oxide, it is used in ointments
for eye infections—stytes, etc. As
salivary, it is the best remedy to
make the kidneys throw off a drainage. That is a great deal for one drug.

Salicylic acid, or its salts, the
salicylates, are very widely used.
In acute articular rheumatism they
are almost specific. In skin disease, salicylic acid ointment for
athlete's foot and innumerable
other things is indispensable. As acetic
salicylic acid (aspirin for you)
it is used for all kinds of joint
pains, headaches, colds, infections,
backache, muscular rheumatism,
etc.

Other great drugs are: Digitalis
as a heart remedy. Atropine is indispensable to the oculist. Iron
and liver extracts for anemia. The specifics: Quinine for malaria, arsenic for lues, and ipecac for
amebia.

Sodium bicarbonate, and other
alkalis (calcium carbonate, magne-
sium oxide and the bismuth
salts) in stomach disease.

The anesthetics: ether, chloro-
form, cocaine, novocaine.

Iodine and ergot we mentioned
earlier this week.

Adrenalin in some cases is indispensable for asthma and hives.
The medical profession has tested all these thoroughly and found them reliable. It is pretty well equipped with such an armamentarium.

Mercury has long history
in the use of its preparations, it probably is used for more things than
any other drug in medicine. As calomel
or blue-mass it is a cathartic. It is a
specific for one of the chronic infections. As bichloride, it is used as a most powerful antiseptic. As ammoniated mercury, it is used in ointments in skin
infections. As blue ointment it
destroys the crab louse. As mer-
curic oxide, it is used in ointments
for eye infections—stytes, etc. As
salivary, it is the best remedy to
make the kidneys throw off a
drainage. That is a great deal for
one drug.

Salicylic acid, or its salts, the
salicylates, are very widely used.
In acute articular rheumatism they
are almost specific. In skin disease, salicylic acid ointment for
athlete's foot and innumerable
other things is indispensable. As acetic
salicylic acid (aspirin for you)
it is used for all kinds of joint
pains, headaches, colds, infections,
backache, muscular rheumatism,
etc.

Other great drugs are: Digitalis
as a heart remedy. Atropine is indispensable to the oculist. Iron
and liver extracts for anemia. The
specifics: Quinine for malaria, arsenic for lues, and ipecac for
amebia.

Sodium bicarbonate, and other
alkalis (calcium carbonate, magne-
sium oxide and the bismuth

CHAPTER 26

ALMA DID not prove to be available quite as often as Tim had hoped, but they managed an afternoon and evening in town about once a fortnight. Usually they met in the arcade of Charing Cross underground station, took
the District railway to Richmond, and walked up past the bridge and
through the Terrace Gardens to the park.

There they would walk for hours
at a time, sometimes talking volu-
bly, sometimes little or not at all.
They would have little competitions over seeking and identifying the different birds, or in naming the trees they encountered. They tried to make friends with the deer (seldom with much success),
and one crazy afternoon Tim
found an old tennis ball, and they threw it to one another to catch,
running about playing and laughing with the zest of children.

As the chill autumn evenings set
in they walked back in a rich glow
of physical well-being, finishing the afternoon with a huge tea at the Lass or the Star and Garter, or the Castle. Thus warm, relaxed, and tingling with health, Tim
reached the pinnacle of enjoyment.
Sometimes there was music, which under such conditions always made him feel romantic, and at times
he would be hard put to it to mask
his happiness with a decent sobriety.

He indeed became aware that, in the capacity of a man whose life
was shattered, he was putting up
an increasingly less impressive
performance, and often he would say, "You've done wonders with me, Alma—wonders. A few weeks ago I never thought I could enjoy life again—and here I am, positively happy. . . . It seems almost cruel. . . . His eyes would fill with genuine tears.

Then to the West End, to a theater or a cinema if it was Sunday.
In the darkness he would slip his arm through hers, or take her hand, and sit so in contentment for a long time. She made no particular response to his gestures, but she did not discourage them.

Afterwards they would go to a choice supper, generally somewhere in Soho, where they were unlikely to meet anyone from West Shilston. Soon after they parted
to go home separately.

One evening, Alma expressing a wish for something more garish
and stimulating than their usual Soho resort, they had their meal at the Trocadero. It so happened that as they were sitting down at their table a party of half a dozen rose from a neighboring one. A man detached himself from the party and came toward them.

"Why, hello, Alma!" he said.
"Fancy seeing you here."

It was Mower. He had not at first recognized Tim, whose back had been to him. There was a rather embarrassing moment, with excuses and explanations hovering
in the air, but both Tim and Alma were sensible enough not to attempt any.

"Pleasant surprise, this," said
Mower, tactfully enough. "Tell you what, why don't the two of you
come along with our crowd?
We're going to have a drink or two at the Berkeley."

"Thanks, Mower," said Tim.
"I'd like to very much, but we

They managed an evening in town about once a fortnight

haven't had our meal. We've only just arrived."

"Oh, sorry, so I see. . . . Well,
come on afterwards, if you feel like it. Very glad if you do. . . .
So long, see you tomorrow in any case, Alma."

The encounter left Tim a trifle
disturbed. "He seems very familiar," he said. "Have you been seeing a lot of him, Alma?"

"Only at the tennis club. We were partners in the tournament
last month."

"How did you get on?"

"Pretty well. We got to the semi-finals. There were a couple of Wimbledon players who came down, and they made us look
rather silly in the end."

"I thought Mower was inclined to poach, that day at The Wilderness."

"Oh, I cured him of that. As far as I'm concerned, anyway. . . .
He's not a bad youth, really. It's half nerves, his conceit."

Tim fingered his bread. Mower had been in evening clothes. He had looked very smart, very young,
very vital. . . . The people he had been with, men and girls, were young and vital, too. And Alma.
 . . . Almost a generation separated
them; it would not do to wait too long. . . .

"Tell me, Alma," he said. "Do
you look on me as an old man?
I don't feel old, but do I seem so
to you?"

She smiled affectionately back
at him.

"Of course not, Tim dear," she replied. "Not really old."

A few days later Tim was surprised to receive a late afternoon
call from Mower. He received him
with his usual courtesy, giving him
a drink and making polite small talk as he waited with some interest to hear the reason for this unexpected visitation.

"Idea that occurred to me, Kenedy," Mower came out at last.
"Don't know if it would interest
you at all. Seems to me, as between us we do most of the better-class work in this district, might not be a bad

D. A. R. Hears Mrs. Stuart Bolin Discuss Records

Family Histories and Other Data Valuable, Chapter is Told

The October meeting of Pickaway Plains chapter Daughters of the American Revolution was held at the home of Mrs. H. D. Jackson, N. Scioto street, Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Bryce Briggs, regent, conducted a short business session. Mrs. Stuart Bolin, of Columbus, the state chairman of Genealogical Research, spoke on the importance of preserving family records and verified recorded dates. All genealogy is history from its beginnings in the 16th century through the period when all vital records were kept by the church on to the present day, she said.

The period of Western migration in the United States from 1850-1925 is a season of poor records as many states during that period made very little attempt to preserve vital statistics. The state and National D. A. R. are attempting to compile and preserve all available marriage records, Bible records, cemetery records and old church records from the early period of pre-Revolutionary days up to 1850. Pickaway Plains Chapter under the leadership of Mrs. Orion King has made valuable contributions to that work.

Mrs. H. O. Pile discussed "Household Equipment our Ancestors Used". She told of their primitive beds of hemlock boughs, tree trunks used for tables by the earliest colonists and the importance of keeping live coals for fire. She described tallow dipping and soap making, cooking meat over the open fireplace by means of a clock-jack. Later the Dutch oven came into use and the big brick oven built into the stone chimney.

Tables were long heavy planks laid across trestles, these were covered with heavy linen cloths called the board cloth in which the thrifty housewife took great pride. Trenchers and bowls of wood were the important table articles as china did not come into common use until about Revolutionary times. The first fork in this country was sent to Gov. John Winthrop in 1633. The spinning wheel, the most important piece of household equipment, was made by the wheelwright, and usually sold for one dollar.

Because nothing was easy in Colonial days our ancestors came to regard work as the answer to all things. One of their favorite sayings is, "Work does not merely keep one from unhappiness but creates an active happiness which makes us high bliss".

Mrs. H. D. Jackson, Mrs. George C. Foreman, Mrs. Frank Bennett, Miss Abbie Mills Clarke, Mrs. Charles Pugsley, Mrs. Blenn Bales, and Mrs. Henry Lewis were hostesses.

Past Eastern Star Officers Have Election

The meeting was under the direction of Mrs. Carl D. Bennett, worthy matron. Favors were presented the guests. They consisted of small gables tied with orchid ribbon. A nonsensical take-off on a new degree, "Shooting Star" and "Lucky Star," was given to them in a clever bit of rhyme.

After the dinner the guests gathered in the red room where they organized a Past Matrons and Past Patrons club. Mrs. Bennett acted as chairman and Mrs. E. S. Neuding was elected president. Mrs. Neuding took charge with the result that Leslie Pontius was chosen vice president and Mrs. Gus Schiear was named secretary-treasurer.

WALNUT-TWP SCHOOL NEWS

Senior English

The senior English classes are studying conversation. The students are divided into pairs. Some are acting as salesmen trying to sell hosiery, engineering courses, electric light power, and umbrellas. Others are serving as reporters. Some of the people the reporters have interviewed have been movie stars, aviators and persons who have been at the scene of an accident.

The object of the project is to have the students overcome the fear of talking to other people, and to teach them how to create interesting conversation. This has been a very interesting project and all students have enjoyed it.

News Briefs

The Circleville library has started a book project for rural schools. The library has been kind enough to allow our school the use of books from the main library at Circleville. We get a new set of books every five weeks. The old set is returned on receiving the new set. The students are enjoying the first set of books very much.

Sports

During the last week most of the boys have been playing ball and tennis. The tennis court has been cleaned off and marked. Mr. Bennett has been playing tennis with the students. Those who have been playing tennis are: Hugh Lamb, Donald Forquer, Bob Perrell, Eugene Reed, Everett Beers, Earnest Winterhoff, Barbara Stellhorn, Jane Rohr, Helen McCord, and Geraldine Lynn. We hope to establish a Tennis Club in the near future.

With the basketball season just around the corner most of the boys are anxious to start basketball practice. We have quite a few promising sophomores coming up this year and several lettermen from last year's team.

The organization of the Boys' Athletic Association has been started by its president, Gayle Riegel. We are urging all the boys in the school to join before November 1st.

Agriculture and Home Economics Special Classes

A group of older girls have organized an evening class, with meetings each Monday night at Walnut school. Any girl who is a high school graduate or one who did not finish her high school course is eligible for membership. The discussions are based on subjects of interest to every girl and are selected by the members of the group.

The young men's farming club meets at the same time and any young man in the community is eligible.

The study hour is followed by a social period enjoyed by both groups.

Gladys Hines, Jeanne Balthasar,

Wayne Hines, and Starling Drum are planning the social hour for the meeting on Monday evening, Oct. 18.

The Young Men's club is under the direction of Mr. Bowne and the Young Women's group is supervised by Miss Grimm.

First Grade—Miss Baker

They now have a new silent reading workbook for pre-primer and primer. They enjoy this type of work very much.

The first and second grades are working together on their Pumpkin Show project. They have selected "Worthy Home Membership" as the title of their work.

Third Grade—Miss Graves

The third grade boys are very proud to report one hundred per cent attendance this month, the girls having only 97 per cent.

We have a new boy this week, Pearl Valentine. He is from Circleville. This makes the enrollment for the boys 14. We have 22 girls.

We have new work books in reading. We enjoy working in them very much.

We are working on our Pumpkin Show exhibit.

Fifth Grade—Miss Cary

We have one new boy in our room, Colin Edward Dill. He came here from Jeffersonville.

We have been studying the war of 1812, its causes, and its results. In arithmetic we are working on long division.

Sixth Grade—Mr. Hughes

The class has been getting things ready for the display at the Pumpkin Show.

GILES, McKECHNIE TO DISCUSS REDS' OUTLOOK IN THURSDAY CONFAB

NEW FIELD BOSS TO INTERVIEW 1937 ATHLETES

Possible Trading To Be Discussed Between Executives

MANAGER'S DAUGHTER ILL

Ambitions and Attitudes To Be Considered

CINCINNATI, Oct. 13 — (UP)

The first of a long series of conferences designed to formulate plans for the re-building of the Cincinnati Reds' baseball fortunes will be made here Thursday.

General Manager Warren Giles today announced that Bill McKechnie, newly appointed manager of the club, would come here then for a meeting with the Reds' board of directors.

Immediately after the announcement of his appointment in New York Saturday, McKechnie returned to his home at Wilkesburg, Pa., because of the serious illness of a daughter.

After his conference with the directors, McKechnie was expected to spend several days here discussing possible trades with General Manager Giles.

One of the first steps the new Redie manager will take in his reconstruction plan will be the interviewing of all members of last season's club.

"I intend to talk to as many Cincinnati players as possible," McKechnie said, "I want to learn of their ambitions and attitude in relation to the Red club. After that has been done, I'll be in a better position to say what will be done toward building the team for 1938."

Bowling News

Gold Cliff Letties continued to pace the Industrial bowling league Wednesday after winning two out of three games from the second-place Coca Colas, Tuesday evening.

The match was rolled on the Circleville Athletic Club alleys.

The Letties won the first two games and dropped the second.

Three members of the left-handed team were over the 500-pin mark while Marion was the only softdrinkers to hit the mark.

RUPPERT ASKS LAZZERI TO STAY WITH YANKEES

NEW YORK, Oct. 13—(UP)—Tony Lazzeri, New York Yankee second baseman and hero of the world series, was en route to his home in San Francisco today, considering his decision to retire.

Lazzeri left yesterday with his wife and son, and Myrl Hoag, Yankee outfielder, after discussing plans for 1938 with Ed Barrow, Yankee business manager.

Barrow, it was understood, asked Lazzeri to reconsider and play with the Yankees again. Tony's world series performance was too good to permit the Yankees to let him retire without an argument.

Lazzeri reportedly is being considered as a successor to Bill McKechnie as manager of the Boston Bees. He also has been mentioned for a job in Cleveland. Should either of these jobs materialize Yankee Owner Col. Jacob Ruppert probably would release him.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13—(UP)—The lancing left of Max Rosenbloom the old ringmaster of New York and Hollywood, left young Bob Nestell with blood streaming from wounds about both his eyes at the end of a 10-round bout last night. He was awarded the decision.

INTERSECTIONAL CONTESTS SHOW MIDWEST WEAKER

NEW YORK, Oct. 13—(UP)—

The Southwest and Midwest, generally conceded for years to be the strongest football divisions, appear on the downgrade.

In intersectional play thus far they have the worst records. In the unbeaten and untied ranks, they trail the East and South.

Western teams have participated in 10 inter-sectional games and won only three. The Southwest has won three and lost six.

The mid-west boasts four perfect record teams—Detroit, Nebraska, Northwestern and Wisconsin.

The Southwest has two—Baylor and Texas A. and M. The east has eleven—Army, Yale, Pittsburgh, Fordham, Navy, Harvard, Holy Cross, Catholic U., Syracuse, Dartmouth and Cornell.

The south has five—Georgia, Alabama, Georgia Tech, Louisiana State and Vanderbilt. The Pacific coast has two—California and Santa Clara.

In intersectional competition this week, the Midwest and Southwest have an opportunity to improve. Three intersectional games involve mid-western eleven—

Detroit-Catholic U., Notre Dame-Carnegie Tech, and Princeton-Chicago. Southwestern eleven play two outside games—Vanderbilt-S.M.U. and Baylor-Centenary.

Other intersectional games involve the East and South, pairing Holy Cross and Georgia; Tulane and Colgate, and Bucknell and Miami. The South is favored to win the first two.

CURT DAVIS TO OPPOSE WHITEHEAD IN 'RUBBER'

CHICAGO, Oct. 13—(UP)—Curt Davis, a rangy right-hander who proved the most effective Cub pitcher in the final days of the National league campaign, and John Whitehead of the Sox squared off today in the deciding game of the Chicago series at Wrigley field.

Southpaw Larry French evened the series at three games each with a seven-hit, 6 to 2 victory over the Sox at Comiskey park. It was French's second conquest of the series.

Three members of the left-handed team were over the 500-pin mark while Marion was the only softdrinkers to hit the mark.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13—(UP)—While the remainder of the Ohio State squad studied textbooks preparatory to their return to the classrooms Thursday, the Buck quarterbacks were closeted with Coach Francis A. Schmidt here today.

The Scarlet and Gray squad had an hour's layover here before they started the final hop of their transcontinental jaunt from Los Angeles. The team is due back Columbus late tonight.

Schmidt openly admitted the generalship of the Bucks against Purdue and in the losing battle with Southern California last week, was poor. He went over every phase of both battles with the quarterbacks in the hope of preventing costly mistakes in the five contests remaining on the schedule.

The Buck coach declined to say whether or not he contemplated any change in his field generals before the Northwestern contest on Oct. 23. Thus far, Co-Captain Jim McDonald, Mike Kabealo and Nick Wasylik have shared in the team's direction.

With two exceptions, all the Ohio State players were ready to resume heavy practice upon their return home. The two major casualties of the Southern California game were sophomore Forrest Fordham and Sol Maggied. Fordham has a wrenched knee and Maggied a badly bruised shoulder. Both are expected to be in shape for Northwestern, however.

KILLING an entry in the dummy is usually for the purpose of preventing its being set up. If the declarer then gets busy in the effort to build up that suit, the defender should not lose sight of his original purpose. It is up to him to play his own cards in such a way that the suit will not become established. Unless he does this, the entire point to his knocking out of the entry is nullified.

One-No. Trump by South, 2-Clubs by his partner, then 2-No Trumps, 3-Clubs and finally 3-No Trumps set the stage for West to lead the spade 4. East gathered at a glance that the outcome depended upon the killing of that club suit. He therefore took the first trick and then knocked out the dummy's diamond A. The declarer, in an extremity and desperate, saw that nothing was to be done unless he could lure a mistake from the foe. He called for the club Q and, glory be, East covered with the K. The worst dub the world ever saw could now make the contract without the aid of an eyelash.

Had East stuck to his knitting he would have refused to cover that club Q. By holding off, he could have made absolutely certain to prevent the setting up of the suit and would have rendered game for the declarer impossible.

SABOTAGE FOUND ON U. S. CRUISER BY NAVY PROBES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(UP)—A naval board of inquiry has found indications of sabotage on the machinery of the new heavy cruiser Vincennes, it was learned at the navy department today.

The board was appointed to investigate mysterious damage to the reduction gears on the new cruiser which was undergoing dock trials at Boston.

The board found that one reduction gear box contained a heavy piece of metal, which it was said, could not have been detached from the box or from the machinery it contained.

Considerable damage was done to the gears. The board then opened the other turbine reduction gear boxes on the ship, and found that two were in perfect order, but that the third contained a file which was not of navy use.

Responsibility for the carelessness or sabotage was not fixed by the board but navy personnel was absolved from blame.

The Vincennes, latest of the heavy cruisers to be commissioned, was built at the Fore river plant of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation at Quincy, Mass., and was launched in February of this year.

The damage to the machinery of the Vincennes culminated a long series of accidents to various navy ships.

PRESIDENT ASKS SOLONS TO VOTE FIVE MEASURES

Control of Crops, Minimum Wages, Maximum Hours F. D. R.'s Goal

means toward peace throughout the whole world.

"I want our great democracy to be wise enough to realize that aloofness from war is not promoted by unawareness of war. In a world of mutual suspicions, peace must be affirmatively reached for. It cannot just be wished for. It cannot just be waited for.

"Meanwhile, remember that from 1913 to 1921, I personally was fairly close to world events, and in that period, while I learned much of what to do, I also learned much of what not to do."

Profit for Business

The president placed a "decent profit" for business among his objectives; denied that the government sought to put individuals out of business. He charged that "whatever danger there may be to the property and profits of the many, if there be danger" comes from business restraints imposed by "private monopolies and financial oligarchies." These he promised to end.

He said his wage and hours program, by distributing jobs and shortening the work-day, should so increase consumption that production costs would decrease and industry would absorb "a considerable increase in labor costs" without raising prices to the consumer.

Four of Mr. Roosevelt's five immediate legislative proposals — excluding only further anti-trust legislation — revive battles of the last congressional session in which a Democratic majority refused to enact his bills.

Describing his program as of immediate need and for the immediate future, Mr. Roosevelt told the nation a few hours after he had called a special session that he wanted congress speedily to enact legislation for:

1. Crop surplus control.
2. Proper land use.
3. Re-organization of government departments.
4. Minimum wages, maximum hours and prohibition of child labor.
5. Stronger anti-trust laws to end monopoly.

We said expenditures involved in crop control could be made "and the national budget kept out of the red."

Courts Challenged

Mr. Roosevelt did not repeat his request of Feb. 5 of this year for reorganization of the judiciary, but he challenged the courts on two counts, complaining that invalidation of N. R. A. and A. A. A. kept "many groups" on sub-standard living levels and that legal interpretations and the law's delays over a period of years "limited effectiveness" of anti-trust legislation.

Cautioning the nation against the deception of "merely temporary prosperity," Mr. Roosevelt explained that he would ask the special session "to consider immediately certain important legislation which my recent trip through the nation convinces me the American people immediately need." He hoped the special session would enable congress to avoid a summer in Washington in 1938, when all members of the house and one-third of the senate will be contesting for re-election.

The president said "enemies of democracy" would object that a special session would hurt business. He argued that "the congress is an essential instrument of Democratic government" and therefore could not be considered an intruder in national affairs.

Balance Human Budget

Keying his chat to the theme of not only balancing the "human budget" as well, Mr. Roosevelt said:

"What you and I want is such governmental rules of the game that labor, agriculture and industry will produce a balanced abundance without waste.

"So we intend this winter to find a way to prevent four-and-one-half cent cotton, nine-cent corn

Chinatown Collects Pennies

CAMPAGNING for funds to aid refugees from the stricken sections of China, New York's Chinatown paraded in force, bearing placards and banners in the appeal for money. Chinese Boy Scouts are pictured marching along Mott Street. The banner reads: "Japan is like a monster and a cold-blooded murderer."

and thirty cent wheat—with all the disaster those prices mean for all us—from ever coming back again.

"To do that, the farmers themselves want to co-operate to build an all-weather farm program so that in the long run prices will be more stable. They believe this can be done, and the national budget kept out of the red."

Mr. Roosevelt ridiculed "big manufacturers" who object to crop control as an "indefensible economy of scarcity." He cited industrial policies which caused plants to close when confronted with over production and asserted that the two were identical.

"When it is their baby who has the measles," the president continued, "they call it not 'economy of scarcity' but 'sound business judgment.'"

"Sometimes I get bored sitting in Washington hearing certain people talk and talk about all that government ought not to do—people who got all they wanted from government back in the days when financial institutions and the railroads were being bailed out in 1933, bailed out by the government."

Country Invigorating

"It is refreshing to go out through the country and feel the common wisdom that the time to repair the roof is when the sun is shining."

WOMAN'S COUNSEL SCORES EVIDENCE IN MURDER CASE

CINCINNATI, Oct. 13.—(UP)—

Counsel for Mrs. Anna Marie Hahn, 31, charged with first degree murder, indicated today it would attack circumstantial evidence against Mrs. Hahn with the contention that others may have been involved in the purported poisoning of Jacob Wagner, 78-year-old German gardener.

The defense intimation was brought out during questioning of Mrs. Magdalene Mitchell, who was seated as the eighth prospective juror to hear Mrs. Hahn's trial. Mrs. Hahn is being tried on charges of killing Wagner although she also had been indicted in connection with the death of George Gselman, 67.

Joseph Hoodin, defense attorney, asked Mrs. Mitchell: "If it were shown there were numerous other persons who might have committed this murder, if it was a murder, would you acquit her?"

The prosecution objected to the question. Hoodin argued that in cases involving circumstantial evidence that creation of a reasonable doubt was sufficient for acquittal. Judge Charles S. Bell ruled against the defense and the question was withdrawn.

The courtroom was crowded. A throng was at the doors when court opened today. Mrs. Hahn appeared calm and refreshed when she entered.

side to have a committee of 100 negotiate, was received with suspicion here at almost the hour that the federation's 57th annual convention voted, 25,278 to 1,246, to bar Charles P. Howard, C. I. O. secretary and president of the International Typographers Union, from his seat at the convention.

The eviction of Howard, voted after three hours of heated debate, came while the C. I. O. secretary was en route to Atlantic City to attend the rival organization's convention resolutions committee, asserting in advance that he was confident that he would be barred and that the action of the convention destroyed the last vestige of council. Howard did not even wait for the adverse report of this "democratic" rule in the A. F. of L.

"The C. I. O. is making steady gains and raising the wage level of the masses of workers and all of the windmill gyrations of the American Federation of Labor can not change that fact," Howard said before he departed.

Favoritism Cited

The Convention acted on the question of barring Howard while it was in the midst of an attack on the National Labor Relation's board's alleged favoritism toward the C. I. O. The resolutions committee, headed by Matthew Woll, will resume its criticism of the board today in an effort to improve the position of craft unions—which dominate the A. F. of L.—in future disputes with the C. I. O. before the federal agency.
